New Educational Travel Website

Gordon's Guide, Adventure and Active Travel Worldwide, the world's leading publisher in adventure and active travel, has launched its newest travel category – educational travel – at www.GordonsGuide.com. The site offers 10,000 trips to 3,000 destinations in 126 countries for vacationers of all ages.

As part of the educational travel category, travelers can choose to learn about the world of art from Art History Abroad, where instructors teach on-site and expose travelers to the many beautiful treasures of Italy and London. For those desiring to learn a new language and cultural immersion, Languages Abroad, a leading language travel organization, offers to teach 30 languages in 90 countries, with a variety of travel options and programs to suit the needs of travelers.
